Nimonik acquired Document Center on December 31, 2023

Document Center has been selling
Industry Standards since 1982.

The entire team at Document Center is now part of Nimonik and will continue to provide exceptional service to customers and our SDO partners throughout the United States and overseas.

Document Center History

Document Center has Royalty Agreements with a broad collection of standards and they have been a reliable industry partner for over 40 years.

Document Center offers Print, PDF and Subscription access to various standards.

Document Center has maintained a robust relationship with SDOs, and 10,000+ customers across many sectors.

40 years of experience working with standards users!

2 ways to obtain standards

1. Retail sales via PDF & Print on Document-Center.com
2. Upgraded subscription platform for standards

Nimonik will continue to offer retail sales, subscription service and alerts when standards are updated. We will continue the exceptional customer service that Document Center provides.

Nimonik and Document Center now offer service and support globally with staff in the United States, Canada, Asia and Europe. Assigned customer success team members will help subscribers manage their collections effectively.

Standard Development Organizations

We will broaden our standards offering over the coming years to serve all industries and standards users.

Going beyond PDFs

Various attempts have been made to make standards more valuable.

- IHS : Workbench
- MadCad : Building Codes
- IEC/ISO SMART
- TechStreet
- Virtual Bookshelf
- CSA Advantage
- ASTM Compass
- Fonto (NIN)

None of these organizations are fundamentally technology companies. Nimonik has developed tools to handle regulations, which are highly similar to standards.

Fundamentally, Nimonik is a technology company.

Most now subscribe to music streaming services because:

- Access to all music, ever.
- Playlists, music management, recommendations
- Affordable price

Pretty amazing, no?

Technology Rollout

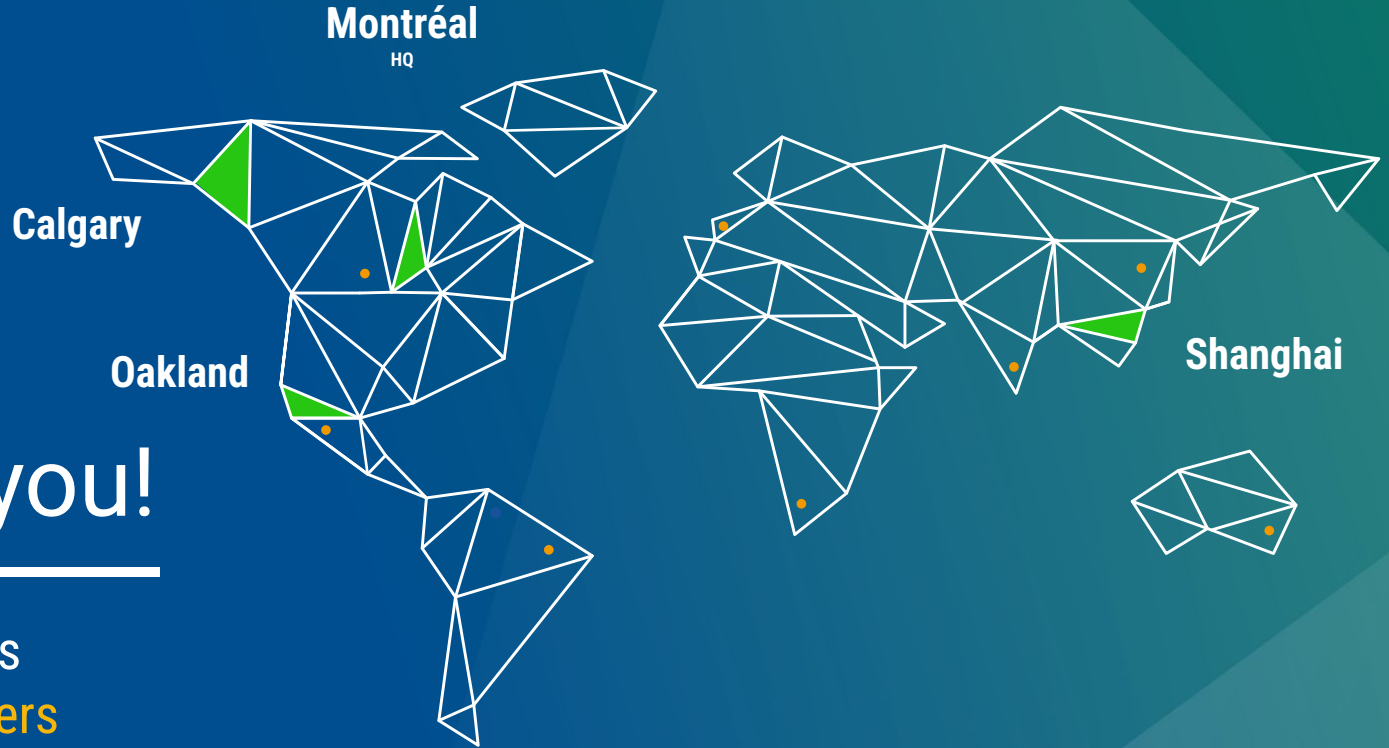

Basic functionality (Phase 1) 2024

- Red-line
- Ability to build lists of applicable documents (standards)
- Ability to annotate, comment
- Link documents to your documents
- Link regulations with standards

New functionality (Phase 2)

- Ability to convert standards into audit checklists
- Include supporting documents and procedures with standards purchases
- AI Chatbot

Nimonik will make standards and digital requirements management easy and affordable.

Thank you!
